BASE BALL.

A large audience witnessed the base ball game yesterday afternoon between the local club and the Pueblo Pastimes. Interest was aroused in the game by the fact that the last contest between the two clubs resulted in a close and exciting one, and that the Pastimes had declared their intention of winning. The McMahon brothers were the local club's battery. Dorr and Wolf were in the points for the Pueblos. Both pitchers were hit freely, but the hits made off McMahon's delivery were scattered, while the home club were fortunate in bunching theirs. Up to the sixth inning the score stood 6 to 2 in favor of the visitors. In that inning with three men on the bases, F. McMahon made a rattling three base hit which cleared the bases and aroused the occupants of the grand stand to the highest pitch of excitement. Both clubs fielded well and the errors made were not of a glaring nature. The two clubs play in Pueblo this afternoon. The following is the score:

Two games a week.

The event of the season in the base ball world is the game scheduled for to-morrow afternoon between the nines chosen from the two social clubs of this city for the benefit of the Ladies Aid society. The players have been practicing daily, and remain days rubbing themselves with arnica nightly. Conference committees have held lengthy sessions and settled all differences by legal documents from which we are permitted to make the following extracts:

We hold these axioms axiomatically Alpha'd.

That all men except umpires are as good as you are.

That life, liberty, three strikes and the pursuit of home base are guaranteed to every player.

That umpires are instituted for this purpose only, and whenever they get the big head, players may call, abuse and otherwise snub umpires at pleasure.

That the right of "kicking" and "back talk" are born with man.

That foul balls shall be served to players on silver salvers, and then only after ten days' notice.

That "stealing" of bases, "base" running, low balls, "pick ups" and "foul" tips are acts which no honest man can afford to be caught in.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that the other fellows ought to be put out, and hence we must submit, to the necessary evil of an umpire. But when a long train of sick decisions and one sided usurpations, invariably crushing the weaker players, evinces a design to let both sides win, it is the right—nay, it is the duty—of the lasing side to throw all blame for defeat upon the umpire.

In order that no inconvenience may ensue to the audience the following rules have been signed, sealed and will be delivered upon payment of twenty five cents:

Umpires have no rights that either the audience or the players are bound to respect. They may reverse their decisions as often as the vagaries of the game, the pleasure of the audience or the players demand. Umpires shall be kept on draught and whenever patronized by dissatisfied players, fresh ones shall be furnished.

Any umpire caught putting out any player is hereby declared an accomplice before the fact and shall be put out himself.

Arnica, St. Jacob's Oil, Pond's Extract, and court plaster, furnished only by surgeons in waiting. Players bringing their own bottled liniment will be charged the usual corkage rates.

Hot balls, corkers, liners and daisy cutters are the delicacy of American gentlemen, and we pledge each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor to leave them alone.

At any time during the game every player may alter, amend or ignore all rules, and at any time make such new rules as may suit his own will.

In order that the audience may get their money's worth the umpire shall—before rendering any decision—obtain their advice and consent thereto.

When a player gets in the way of a ball running at the rate of 10,000 feet per second, either the ball, the player or the umpire shall be considered dead.

In case the umpire reaches first base before the striker establishes his suit and the man on third signals for triumph while Gealon holds that [illegible] home base reaches the umpire or called balls reach him, or rather, if the called balls reach the home base after the umpire, or after the umpire called base home balls reaches then the base called umpire balls home—O! Pshaw—If you want to get this rule straight you must come and see the game and decide for yourself.

War on the Maxwell Grant.

TRINIDAD, COLO., August 25.—What very probably will end in bloody struggle is now brewing on the Maxwell grant at Stone Wall, forty miles west of here. Stone Wall, forty miles west of here is now in the hands of armed settlers in number to [illegible] The sheriff's posse went to keep the peace [illegible] which demand was pressed. The posse took up quarters in the Perry hotel, a large frame building. The settlers endeavored to force in the people, who at the posse opened fire, and R. D. Burrell, one of the oldest settlers, fell dead and two or three other settlers were wounded. The building was soon riddled with balls. The eye witness who gave the information left while the conflict was still going on.

The city is greatly excited. The sheriff is gathering men in large numbers to go to the relief of the posse. It is believed that the building will be burned [illegible] The settlers are [illegible] put to death before morning. The settlers come from the tributaries of the Purgatory river, from Vetasilla, New Mexico, and from the Cuchilla and the western slope of the mountains. It is said that the settlers are receiving reinforcements from Las Animas county. The public sentiment in Trinidad is with the settlers. Another courier is expected to arrive tonight. The settlers' cavalry is composed of both Americanos and Mexicans. The Mexicans are pallied as if for war.

Impeachment Mentioned.

WASHINGTON, August 25.—Representatives Thompson, Morrow and McKenna of California appeared before the house judiciary committee today to give their views on the impeachment proceedings against Judge Sawyer, of San Francisco, asking for the appointment of a committee to investigate charges for releasing Chinese from arrest [illegible] The committee has not decided what action it will take in the matter.
